

What is LOVE ?

We are often told it is an interlocking of two souls

But no, LOVE is not a locking, but rather an embracing.

An embracing of dreams and hopes and fears and hurts.

An embracing of both what is and what could be.

What LOVE could be.

What LIFE could be.

What WE could be.

We sometimes ask...

What is the key to LOVE ?

Well the bad news is... it isn't locked.

And that is what I see when I look at the two of you.

A LOVE of open hearts and open minds and open eyes.

A LOVE that inspires you to believe in fantastic things.

A LOVE worth growing for, worth working for, worth fighting for.

That is what LOVE is.