

Wedding Dinner Blessing Prayer

We have gathered here around this dinner table to celebrate the love and commitment that have united _____ & _____ in a wonderful bond of marriage.

To give love and to receive love is one of the greatest gifts that we can give to each other in our lifetime. Love is timeless, selfless and ageless, love can be expressed if you are one or one-hundred. It can't be borrowed and it can't be stolen. It must be shared from the heart, and if you share it, and pass it on, it is contagious and continuous. The miracle of love exchanged, enriches every one of us, the key to love is giving, without any thought of return. All of us in one way or another have been touched and blessed in our lives by _____ & _____ and they are so very grateful to be loved and supported by your love in return. And thru their love we are all here today to celebrate with them, on their wonderful wedding day.

If you will all please join hands with the person next to you, so we may form an endless chain of love to surround _____ & _____ with.

LET US GIVE THANKS BLESSING

Thank you for this happy celebration of your most amazing gift, the gift of love

Thank you for friends and family

Thank you for bringing us all together for this weekend to celebrate this couple

Thank you for _____ & _____, and bless them as they stand on the threshold of a new part of their journey in this life together as husband and wife.

Let them lean into their love of each other and let these friends and family gathered, stand to bolster them in their life together, may love and laughter light your days and warm your heart and home.

Let us remember to slow down in these days, take a breath, and take in the sheer joy and love that surrounds us tonight. Let us fill our hearts with this wonderful moment.

Thank you for this life, this joining of family and friends, this joyous time and this lovely meal. Amen
